Raid In Budapest Sends
75 To Jail; Documents
Reported Found

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 22—(UP)—Police, charging a Nazi plot to overthrow the government by force and seize power, raided the headquarters of the Ultra-Nazi party headquarters today and arrested 75 persons.

Those arrested included Maj. Franz Szalasi, formerly of the army general staff, who is the party's leader, and Count Ludwig Szechenyi, his chief aide.

Szalasi was placed under police supervision and must appear before the authorities every two weeks, and be at home at 9 p. m. daily.

A police communique said documents seized at the headquarters that Szalasi's "National Socialist Party" had planned a putsch.

Police said 15 of the conspirators had been sentenced previously for political offenses.

Szalasi has a well-organized and disciplined following. He has been arrested several times, and had been sentenced to two months' imprisonment but was at liberty awaiting hearing of an appeal. His previous arrests apparently served to increase his prestige and adherents.

FRANCE TO STRENGTHEN DEFENSES

Governor Demands Trial for Bradley

DAVEY INTENDS TO PROSECUTE PROBE WITNESS

"This Is Not Russia," Ohio Executive Tells Crowd In Cleveland

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22—(UP)—Lee Bradley, central figure in the Ohio senate committee's investigation of graft, testified today that a six-month trip in 1934 took him from Jackson, Mich., to the Gulf of Mexico, seeking contributions from utility firms for Martin L. Davey's campaign for governor.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 22—(UP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey said today he will devote his time for the next few weeks to putting Lee Bradley "in the penitentiary," and will oppose any attempt to delay the perjury trial of the star witness for the state senate graft investigating committee.

"I intend to stay in Cleveland for conferences on Bradley, Bradley, nothing but Bradley, all day," the governor said. "I will be present personally to prosecute him when my perjury warrant comes up for hearing in the East Cleveland court. I will not seek any delay and I will demand immediate trial."

Speaking at a Cuyahoga county Democratic rally last night, the governor said he would seek to "prove by the evidence that everything he testified to was a falsehood."

"It is almost unbelievable that even the Hitler committee of the senate will drag in that scoundrel and let him besmirch the good name of the state of Ohio," Gov. Davey said.

Not Russia, But America

"This is not a legal trial. This is not Russia . . . where they have a Stalin . . . and mock trials where they condemn men to death and bring them to the mock trials to confess . . . this is America."

The governor referred to James Metzbaum, counsel for the senate committee, as "slick little Metzbaum."

"If it's the last thing I do in this life, I'm going to send Bradley to the penitentiary on the truth of the facts," Gov. Davey said. "Then their whole scheme (Continued on Page Eight)"

DETROIT WOULD PLOW UNDER ALL 5-YEAR-OLD CARS

DETROIT, Feb. 22—(UP)—A proposal that the federal government "plow under" automobiles more than five years old was approved today by the city council.

Councilman John A. Kronk suggested that outmoded cars should be banned from the streets and junked as a Works Progress Administration project.

"If the federal government can spend millions of dollars to pay farmers for not growing things, can kill pigs to create higher prices, and can order certain crops plowed under, it ought to be able to spend a little money to scrap automobiles that have become a nuisance to motorists and pedestrians," Kronk said.

The council approved Kronk's motion that William M. Walker, Jr., W.P.A. coordinator, confer with auto manufacturers, dealers and W.P.A. officials to discuss a project for junking obsolete cars.

TWO COUNTIES UP FOR PAROLES FROM OHIO PEN

Two Pickaway county prisoners in the Ohio penitentiary will be up for parole hearings on April 1. They are Millard Young, convicted May 7, 1937 for burglary and larceny, and George Eblin, convicted May 8, 1937 for burglary. Both are serving one to 15 year terms.

Washington's Warning To Nation is Recalled

House, Senate Hear Admonition Against Entanglements With Foreign Nations Read On First President's Anniversary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(UP)—The capital led the nation's celebration of the 206th anniversary of the birthday of George Washington today with a keynote taken from the first president's last address—no foreign alliances.

With the world increasingly anxious over European and Asiatic conditions, special importance was attached to the usual custom in both houses of congress of reading Washington's immortal farewell address.

It was in this address that Washington warned the country to "steer clear of permanent alliance with any portion of the foreign world" and to guard against "the insidious wiles of foreign influence."

The address was read by young legislators—Rep. Francis H. Case, R. S. D., in the house of representatives, and Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D., La., in the senate.

In addition to the congressional observance of Washington's birthday, wreaths were laid at the base of the Washington monument during the day by many organizations. More than 5,000 persons led by veterans organizations made the annual pilgrimage to Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon.

ARMY AVIATORS ON RETURN HOP

Five Of Six Planes In Air; Other Delayed By Muddy Field

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 22—(UP)—Five of the six United States army bombers which made a goodwill flight to Buenos Aires took off from El Palomar air base today for Santiago, Chile, on their return home.

The sixth plane, piloted by Capt. Archibald Y. Smith, was stuck in the muddy field and its departure was delayed.

They left here at 7:22 a. m. EST. Flying conditions were perfect.

The planes were given a hearty send-off by a large crowd, including Argentine officials and almost the entire staff of the United States embassy staff, headed by Ambassador Alexander W. Weddell.

The planes were understood to be carrying a message to President Roosevelt from President Roberto M. Ortiz, who was inaugurated Sunday, in reply to one which Mr. Roosevelt sent to him.

AMANDA MAN, 26, DIES IN HOSPITAL AFTER ACCIDENT

Joseph Edgar Smith, 26, farmer of near Amanda, died at 10 p. m. Monday in Lancaster hospital of injuries received last Thursday in a motorcycle-auto collision near the Amanda township cemetery. He suffered a broken leg, arm and internal injuries.

The motorcycle on which Smith was riding was in collision with the auto of James O'Dell, Amanda mail carrier.

Mr. Smith is survived by his widow, Etta Griffith Smith; two children, Betty Jane and Donna Lou; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Greencastle, north of Amanda; two brothers, Melvin and Gale of Greencastle, and five sisters, Mrs. G. F. Stump and Mrs. Harry Dunkle of Lancaster, and Mary Etta, Virginia and Gloria at home.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Amanda Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be in Amanda township cemetery by Crites & Van Cleave. The body will be taken to the home at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

Pallbearers are Paul Barr, Harold Barr, Herbert Roof, Granville Conrad, Peter Hiatt and Louis Seimers, all of Fairfield county.

COUNTY SCHOOLS CLOSE; CITY CONDUCTS CLASSES

All schools in Pickaway county were closed Tuesday with the exception of Circleville and Jackson township.

School officials of the city said sessions were held to make up for teachers' visiting day to be held March 4. City schools will be closed on that day for teachers to visit schools in other cities.

Jackson township school officials said the school was open due to a vote of the board of education approving the extra day.

Hitler Looks to Africa Again

GERMANY'S pre-war colonial possessions in Africa are pictured on this map which shows exactly who owns what on the entire continent. The two largest and richest, German Southwest Africa and Tanganyika territory, are dominated by Britain. It was to Britain that Fuehrer Adolf Hitler issued a demand for return of the colonies in his Reichstag address.

Twenty Ballot in First Pumpkin Show Election

Nine Directors Selected Without Opposition Monday Eve; Title of Organization Altered By State's Decree

Twenty persons voted Monday night in the first annual election of nine directors of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society held in the city council chamber.

The Pickaway County Agricultural Society is a new name for the Circleville Pumpkin Show society. By-laws of the veteran Pumpkin Show society are being revised to comply with regulations of the state department of agriculture for county fair organizations.

The election of directors was a part of the new setup.

Directors elected without opposition Monday night and the terms they will serve are: one year, Joseph M. Lynch, John E. Walters and Elmer E. Wolf; two years, Blenn R. Bales, R. G. Colville and O. J. Towers, and three years, C. G. Chalfin, T. D. Krinn and George D. McDowell.

Sterling Lamb, assistant secretary of the organization, and Mr. Colville, served as clerks. Judges were Messrs. Krinn, McDowell and Fred C. Clark.

Ballots Circulated

The vote was larger than anticipated by directors. Some did not believe there would be more than a dozen votes. After the voting started the election officers were anxious to fill at least one page of the voting register, furnished by the state department. It contained twenty spaces for names so some telephone calls were made for voters and a few ballots were circulated in the downtown district to those eligible to vote.

Persons eligible to vote were those who contributed $1 or more to the society for the last celebration. Under regulations of the state department, representatives of corporations, firms and partnerships could not vote. A total of 196 firms, corporations, partnerships and individuals contributed to the 1937 show. Mr. Colville, treasurer of the society, estimated about 100 contributions were from individuals who would be eligible to vote.

In the 20 ballots cast, 18 were straight tickets and two were (Continued on Page Eight)

CABINET SPEEDS UP AIR, NAVY BUILDING

Report of Foreign Minister on Grave Crisis Confronting Nation Brings Immediate Steps Toward Mighty War Machine

BRITISH LABOR HITS POLICY

Motion of Censure to Be Debated Before House of Commons; Lord Perth Called

BY UNITED PRESS

Developments today in the British-Italian-German situation: PARIS—Cabinet meets to save France's diplomatic structure from collapse; big military appropriations expected.

LONDON—Britain reported to be considering big export credits to Italy as commons meets for debate on labor party censure motion against Chamberlain.

VIENNA—Police close university as Nazi and Anti-Nazi students clash on first day of government ban against demonstrations.

HANKOW—China to protest to Germany against Hitler's remarks on Japan and promise to recognize Manchukuo.

ROME—British ambassador ordered home for instructions as Italians look to Chamberlain for start on friendship negotiations.

PARIS, Feb. 22—(UP)—The cabinet, after receiving a detailed report from Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos today, approved the drafts of laws which it has under discussion to provide exceptional credits for national defense.

Steps also will be taken to speed up military and naval production, and the superior air council and general staff of the army air force will be reorganized.

The cabinet's plans include estimates for large increases in military outlays, a big increase in the air force, additional appropriations for the army and credits for two 35,000-ton battleships. Large purchases of foreign airplanes may be made.

Gen. Jean Vuillemin was named new chief of the air force general staff.

Policy Decision Delayed

The cabinet made no decision on its immediate foreign policy, pending the outcome of the debate in the British house of commons.

The ministers showed grave concern over the foreign situation, fearing that a diplomatic structure which France has been building for 20 years may be threatened with disaster.

Viscount Halifax Meets French Envoy

LONDON, Feb. 22—(UP)—Viscount Halifax, temporary foreign minister, conferred today with Andre Charles Corbin, French ambassador. It was understood that Corbin expressed his country's anxieties regarding future British foreign policy and that Halifax explained in detail that British relations with France were in no way affected.

Europe's Crisis in Brief

BY UNITED PRESS

The unrest which pervades Europe since Adolf Hitler's surprise move into Austria was exemplified today when Hungarian police raided Nazi headquarters in Budapest, announcing that they had discovered a plot for an uprising to seize power.

It was significant that when Hitler forced Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria to temporize with the Nazis, political dopest predicted the next move would be to extend Nazi influence in Hungary as a preliminary to bringing Czechoslovakia under the domination of the Rome-Berlin axis.

Meanwhile, Neville Chamberlain, the realistic British prime minister, moved imperturbably to make friends with Italy, refusing to waver before the storm caused by his course. Lord Perth, British ambassador to Italy, was ordered home for instructions.

France was greatly upset and the cabinet held an anxious session in Paris without deciding on what to do, beyond approving its already-drafted plans for strengthening French defenses.

BORAH PREDICTS HITLER TO GET LOST COLONIES

Veteran Statesman Claims War Is Not Probable In Europe

NEW PACT DISCUSSED

Republican Sees Britain's Move As "Wedge"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Sen. William E. Borah, who was served continuously in the senate since 1907 and is considered an authority on foreign affairs, speaks his mind on the significance of week-end developments in Europe in the following interview.

Borah has never been abroad, but his long membership on the senate's foreign relations committee, his demands during the 1920s for American recognition of Soviet Russia, his military opposition to the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations, and his enduring fight for United States isolation, have made him one of the Americans widely known in Europe.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(UP)—Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, the senate's leading authority on foreign relations, expressed the belief today that the European diplomatic crisis had resulted from the abandonment by Great Britain of all hope for an alliance with the United States.

Borah, who is the ranking Republican member of the senate's powerful foreign relations committee, said he was convinced that the purpose of Britain's move to seek an agreement with Italy was to weaken Germany and, at least, delay her efforts to regain colonies lost in the World War.

"I believe that the British government has come to the conclusion that an arrangement with the United States is impossible because the American people won't allow it," Borah said in discussing the events of the week-end in European capitals.

"As a result she has undertaken to make friends where she can and if she succeeds in making an agreement with Italy it will drive a wedge between Italy and Germany."

Hitler, Eden Discussed

Discussing the speech of Reich Chancellor Adolf Hitler and the resignation of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden because of the cabinet's determination to make a deal with Italy, Borah said that:

1. Redistribution of Europe's control resources was the chief hope of ending the present unsettled situation which, he argued, dates back to the improvement of small powers by the Versailles treaty. He said he was "convinced" Germany would regain her colonies.

2. War in Europe is unlikely in the near future because Hitler expects to accomplish his objective—including the return of lost colonies—without fighting, and probably will.

3. If Hitler had declared in his Reichstag speech that there would be no more racial or religious persecution in Germany it would have gone far to end such discrimination throughout Europe, and the German dictator would be "the most powerful figure in Europe today."

British Convinced

Borah said that the present expressions of opinion in the United States—including a vigorous drive in the senate to learn if there was any agreement with Britain—apparently had convinced British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain that there could be no understanding with this country.

"It seems to me that Great Britain has finally made up her mind that she cannot depend on the United States for military or diplomatic assistance and that, as a result, she has undertaken to make friends where she can," he said.

"I am convinced that for a time the British public was developing the idea of cooperating closely with the United States, and especially of some working agreement with us as regards the Pacific. A large amount of sentiment in that direction developed in the British press, in magazines and speeches over there recently.

Prague Nazi Head

THE Nazi political machine with its adherents in many countries continues to rumble on in Europe. Latest Nazi news comes from Prague, Czechoslovakia, where followers of Konrad Henlein, above, leader of the Sudeten Czech Nazis, clashed with the Social Democrats in a hotel there. Twenty persons were arrested following the disturbance. Henlein's followers seek a united German front on the German Nazi model in Czechoslovakia. The German Social Democratic party seeks cultural autonomy for Germans but is opposed to Henlein's group. Meanwhile European diplomats fear another Hitler coup in Czechoslovakia.

"But in the last 30 to 60 days, I believe that the British government, at least, has come to the conclusion that an arrangement with the United States is impossible because the American people won't allow it. I think that the results of this decision are now visible in Downing street.

"Chamberlain has decided to seek an agreement with Italy, despite the opposition of Eden. There is, of course, much to be said for Eden's viewpoint, but Chamberlain has wisely decided that it is better to go to Italy and arrange a settlement before it is too late, than to wait indefinitely for Italy to come to Britain.

"The purpose behind this British move, undoubtedly, is to drive a wedge between Germany and Italy."

"The only real dispute between Germany and Great Britain is over the former German colonies which Germany is insisting she must have back. That is a primary element in Hitler's program and I am convinced that sooner or later she will get them back because they were originally hers. They were taken away from her by sheer force.

"Naturally Britain will try to hold on to the colonies as long as she can. That is why she is now seeking an agreement with Italy because if she succeeds it will drive Italy and Germany apart and Germany will be weakened or at least delayed in her efforts to regain the colonies."

The root of the present crisis goes back to the Versailles treaty, Borah declared.

"Look at the map of the world before and after the Versailles treaty," he said. "When that treaty was signed Great Britain and France took possession of the world."

"They left the small powers with nothing. How could they hope to maintain that position without huge armies and navies? That was the cause for all of the frantic armaments building; the cause for

JURORS CALLED TO START TRIAL OF FRAUD CASES

Guy Walter Mathewson Faces Judge Adkins' Court Thursday

TWO INDICTMENTS LISTED

State Uncertain Which To Try First

Trial of Guy Walter Mathewson, 65, of Columbus, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, will start in Common Pleas court Thursday. Twenty persons have been ordered to report at 9 a. m. as prospective jurors.

Two indictments against Mathewson resulted from alleged insurance frauds. He is accused of operating under the name of William Mason and representing himself to be an agent for a Chicago insurance company. It is alleged he obtained notes on insurance policies, discounted the notes at once and failed to deliver the policies.

The indictments against Mathewson were on charges filed by Emmet C. Shupe and Clarence Maxson, both of Saltcreek township. Amounts alleged to have been obtained from them were: Shupe, $40 on Dec. 18, and Maxson, $38, on Dec. 15. Officials were uncertain Tuesday which case would be the first started.

Those called for jury duty are H. E. Valentine, Charles Morris, Clarence Heffner, and Florence Fetherolf, Saltcreek township; William Schleich, Clark Beauman, John Bailey, J. M. Hatfield, Harry Reiterman and Frank Recob, Monroe township; Bernice Hulise and Daisy Brown, Deercreek township; Ralph Head and Austin Wilson, Pickaway township; Helen Teegardin and Nelle Oesterle, Harrison township; Howard Duvall, Perry township; Lydia Liston, Circleville township and Fred Weller, Harry Denman, George Rihl and Myrl Heiskell, Circleville.

EXPRESS PLANE FALLS OUTSIDE PARIS; TRIO DEAD

PARIS, Feb. 22.—(UP)—A Paris-Berlin express plane crashed on an estate outside Paris today, killing its three occupants. The pilot, flying blind through a fog over the Oise valley, was seeking Le Bourget airdrome.

The plane struck a tree on the Renaud estate in the village of Chateaufort in France, near the suburb of Montmorency, and burst into flames, burning its crew of three Germans to death.

The plane, carrying mail and newspapers, left Cologne at 5 a. m. The crash occurred a few miles from the airdrome.

the unsettled situation that has prevailed ever since.

"For that reason Germany and Italy and Japan were drawn closer and closer together—the have-nots against the haves. It might be argued that Japan was an exception but it applies equally to Japan because she was bound to join in with the dissatisfied nations demanding a redistribution of colonial wealth.

FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN HAROLD K. CLAYPOOL

NEW CANAL—Those in favor of a stronger national defense policy are urging the construction of a canal across Nicaragua so the country might reduce its navy, as a connection between the Atlantic and Pacific would be assured even if something should happen to close the Panama Canal.

FEED LOANS — Farmers are aided by a new resolution approved by Congress on February 4th. Under this resolution it will be possible for farmers who are not able to obtain credit from other sources, to receive crop and feed loans from one of the 550 field offices of the Farm Credit Administration. The loans are not to exceed $400.

OLD AGE INSURANCE CLAIMS — Claims for lump-sum payments under the old-age insurance plan of the Social Security Act were certified during January at the rate of 942 per working day. Six months ago, in August, the daily rate was 165 from which level it climbed steadily. During January a total of $745,691 was certified for payment to 23,535 claimants—workers who reached the age of 65 and the estates of workers who died. The average amount of each payment was $31.68, or almost double the average of $17.00 for all claims paid up to the end of August.

CORN EXPORTS GREATEST IN NINE YEARS — The export movement of corn from the United States during the current year has been the heaviest since 1928-29 and may exceed exports of any year since 1922-23. From the beginning of the marketing year on October 1, 1937 to the week ending February 5, 1938, more than 17,000,000 bushels of corn were exported from the United States. This four-month total is almost as much as average annual exports of 21,500,000 bushels for the full marketing year during the period 1925-26 to 1929-30.

U. S. CONCILIATION SERVICE

Even before a dispute between an employer and his workers breaks out in the open in the form of a strike or lockout, conciliator of the U. S. Department of Labor is often found on the spot actively engaged in trying to bring the two sides to an amicable agreement. If the strike or lockout cannot be averted, the conciliator will concentrate his efforts on bringing about an early peace through a mutually satisfactory solution of the difficulties.

LINCOLN — There was a medley of tumult-cheers, shouting, tears mixed with laughter—in the streets of Washington on April 10, 1865, when news reached the city of Lee's surrender. The crowd surged to the White House and called for the President. Lincoln came and stood at an upper window. He raised his hand for silence and said: "My friends, I cannot make a speech now; I must take time to think, but there is one thing I will do. You have a hand with you. There is one piece of music I have always liked. For the past few years it has not been popular in the North, but now by virtue of my prerogative as President and Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, I declare it contraband of war and our lawful prize, I ask you to play Dixie."

MORTGAGE AGENCY — At the request of President Roosevelt the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has organized "The National Mortgage Association of Washington" with a paid in capital stock of $10,000,000 and a paid in surplus of $1,000,000. This organization completes the machinery for making available immediately the facilities and benefits of the new Federal Housing law, and this Association will invest in first mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration and sell its debentures against them.

GENERAL RELIEF — Reports from 29 States show that the number of cases receiving general relief in 90 urban areas increased 13 percent. Of the 90 urban areas included, 58 are cities of 100,000 or more population. The population of these 90 urban areas is 49 percent of the urban population and 28 percent of the total population of the United States. General relief includes all State and local relief extended to the needy except public assistance to the needy aged, blind and children under the Social Security Act, other public assistance of these types, and aid to veterans under State and local statutes.

CHICAGO FRIENDS TO HEAR PENSION CHIEF AT DINNER

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(UP)—Dr. Francis Townsend, originator of a $200 a month old age pension plan, who is headed for Washington to begin a 30-day jail sentence for contempt of congress, postponed his journey today in order to speak tonight at a banquet tendered him by his followers.

Headquarters of the Townsend Old Age pension plan announced he will leave for the capital immediately after the address, arriving some time tomorrow.

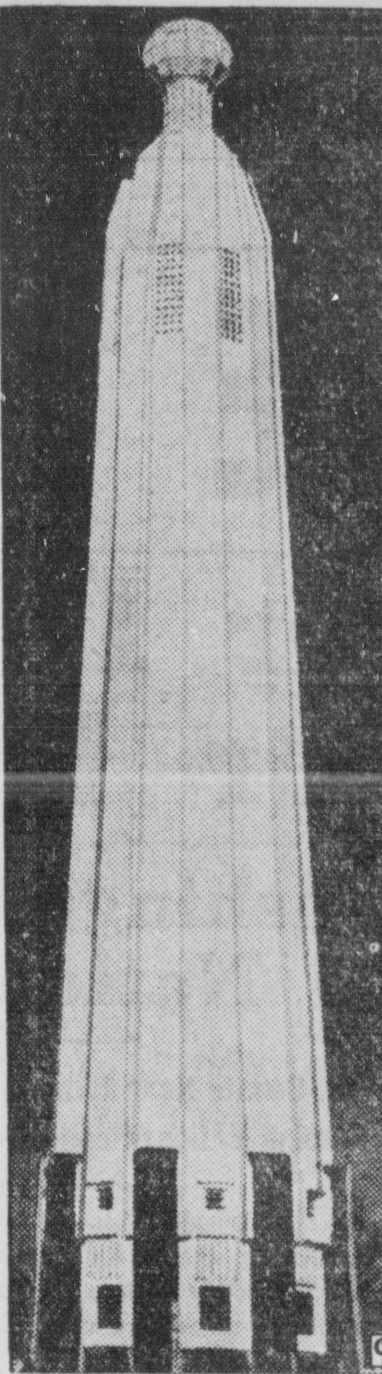

"I assume I'll start serving immediately," Townsend said, "and I'll serve it even if President Roosevelt should offer me a pardon."

Hundreds of his followers, he said, have offered to serve the sentence for him.

"But, of course, that is impossible," he added.

AGENT OF FARM BUREAU SCORES ONE-HOUSE IDEA

E. J. Bath Says Proposal Might Be Worse Than Prevailing System

"JITTERS" DISCUSSED

Initiative Petitions Put In Circulation

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The United Press has obtained interviews with two men who offer arguments for and against a proposed one-house legislature for Ohio. Today, E. J. Bath of the Ohio Farm Bureau offers arguments against the proposal, which was supported by Professor Harvey Walker of Ohio State university in yesterday's article.)

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22 — (UP)

— E. J. Bath, who is "proud to be known as a lobbyist" for the Ohio Farm Bureau, today condemned the proposed constitutional amendment for a one-house legislature on the grounds that it will not improve the legislative system and "may even make for worse conditions."

He insisted in opposition to the Ohio Single House Legislature League which is sponsoring initiative petitions to put the proposal on the ballot in November that the present system of representation is equitable and represents a proper balance between rural and urban constituencies.

Dominance Feared

"We have now a territorial and population representation," Bath said. "We think it is unhealthy for either rural or urban to dominate. There ought to be a balance of expression. We now have the senate for population representation and the house on a territorial basis."

He said apportionment calculations showed that the legislature under the proposed change would consist of either 94 or 95 members. In the one case, he said, 13 generally urban counties would elect 56 members from single member districts while 75 counties would elect only 38. In the second case 12 counties would elect 57 members while the 76 others would elect only 38.

Bath contended the amendment bringing about a predominantly urban one-house assembly also would make for a continuance of "hodge podge taxation with a heavy burden on real estate and strengthen opposition to an equitable tax structure."

He pointed specifically to the school foundation program which he said would have been difficult of attainment had there been a single urban house because some city members opposed use of city money to help rural sections. Yet, he said, "constitution guarantees equality of educational opportunity."

Furthermore, he stated that the rural sections under the proposal would be at a disadvantage in consideration of legislation allocating gasoline and license tax and liquor permit fees.

Bath expressed dislike of a provision in the plan providing that the legislature shall not be in recess or adjournment for longer than three months of any year. He said the amendment gives the legislature authority to appoint the 15-member council from its own members and fix their salaries and the length of their deliberations.

He could not agree that this would necessarily mean improvement in legislation and said he thought it would be a disturbing factor in the state.

"Business and everybody gets the jitters every time the legislature meets now," he said. "Under this plan it would be a permanent case of St. Vitus' dance."

He said the opportunity for lobbyists to maintain control of the assembly would be improved under a one-house system. "It would be vastly easier for me and other lobbyists to get in our work with a small house," he said.

He added that the lobby influence would be stronger were the council to be in continuous session for then the lobbyists would have to be on the scene more regularly. Neither could he agree that exposure of corrupt members would

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU

BY BOB BURNS

There was a time when a drug store was a place where they just sold drugs and a farm was a place where they just raised farm produce, but of course that was before the age of what we call "economic efficiency."

Not long ago one of my boy's school chums was over at the house for dinner and he was telling about spendin' his vacation on his father's farm. I says "Well, how's everything going on your dad's farm?"

He says "Well, he didn't do so good with his antique shop—but he just about broke even with his gas and oil."

Father of Star Dancer Asks Weekly Allowance

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22.—(UP)—Allen Whitney today asked the law to compel his daughter Eleanor, to support him. She is the brunette, tap-dancing beauty who earns $500 a week in the movies.

Whitney went to superior court jingling 72 cents in his pockets and complaining that it was his entire fortune. He took a pauper's oath, said that he could find no work, and if anything, he was the worse off for having a celebrated daughter because she made it impossible for him to qualify for unemployment relief.

It was well known, he said that his daughter was earning a large salary, and since it was her legal duty to support him, he was unable to convince state relief officials that he needed money.

Whitney was divorced from the actress' mother several years ago. Miss Whitney was not represented in court. Her motion picture studio reported that she was on a vacation "somewhere in the East" and would not return before next week.

$25 Week Needed

The father had two quarters, a dime, two nickels and two pennies in his pocket and he showed them to the court. He estimated that he needed $25 a week from his daughter, and also a $200 lump payment to buy new clothes and pay doctor bills. He took the pauper's oath in lieu of the $7 filing fee for his petition.

When his case was placed on the docket, for a later hearing, he strolled aimlessly from the courthouse.

Miss Whitney is a native of Cleveland. She began her dancing career on the stage and became a celebrity in New York after studying from the tap dancer, Bill Robinson. Her fame had preceded her to Hollywood and she was a star in her first picture.

AT THE GRAND

Raymond Scott and his Quintet, current 'rage' of the airwaves, add to the mirth of Eddie Cantor's musical triumph, "Ali Baba Goes to Town," Twentieth Century-Fox picture featuring Tony Martin, Roland Young, June Lang, Louise Hovick and a tremendous cast, at the Grand theatre, by injecting their modernistic swing music into the spectacular film, which is enriched by a revolutionary new three-tone tinted process.

"Abstract music is as cold as a block of marble the sculptor has never touched," said the youthful Scott.

"Music should always tell a story, whether it's realism, which I try to attain when I compose a number, or whether it's something with sentiment in it. In other words, music should provide true entertainment together with a pleasing melody."

A lot of Americans wish that,

like the Rev. Israel Noe of Memphis, they were forced to eat regularly.

be easier than under the bi-cameral arrangement.

Bath said he did not approve the provision that legislative committees must report their action on every bill. Noting that every regular session of the legislature sees the introduction of from 1,000 to 1,500 bills, he said "the great bulk of them deserve a swift death."

Under such a provision and with the basis of representation to which he objects, Bath said he believed there would be ample opportunity for behind-the-scenes maneuvering.

"How do they figure there will be less log-rolling, less trading, less of burying of bills in committee, or more attention to business?" he asked.

Bath denounced a clause in the amendment which stipulates that if the proposed single house assembly fails to redistrict the state after each decennial census the secretary of state must perform the task.

"We certainly are not wanting to flirt with any such dictatorship as that," he said.

We received a card from one of the John Sark party, touring the South and now at San Marcos, Texas. They are having a nice trip and seeing the sights. They have seen many beautiful and historic places and some that were not so fine. This Sark outfit, composed of John Sark and wife and Mrs. Cynthia Roof and Mrs. Blanche Morrison, is not expected home for a few weeks yet.

Sign Boys Informed

A party signing himself "One Who Saw the Day" writes us a note, the letter postmarked at Lockbourne, saying that in the year 1886, Easter occurred on April 25 and asks that we inform the "sign boys" at headquarters to this effect. Our boys who are in at most every daily session of "the Court at headquarters" are in a "deep study" since Hitler has issued orders to "gimme or else." At a late session of "the court" it was decided to appoint a committee to get an ordinance passed to prevent anyone making a gun that will shoot more than seventy miles. And another thing that "the court" is worried about, is that "awful pack of stuff" they're a tellin' about our Governor. "Our Court" will do something about it with hot mix "True or Not."

New Repairman

We told you that we were trying to get a new shoe patcher to come to town. One came in yesterday and we went to his shop and gave him "the third." He's one of the Jones boys, comes from Columbus, wife and four kiddies and some years ago lost both legs while a railroad brakeman. But he assured us, and made us believe it, that he knows how to make new shoes out of old ones. His family will move among us just as soon as that empty house, which is not here, can be found.

300 at Meeting

Rev. Wright, so Doctor Gardner said, had about 300 at the meeting "for men only" Sunday afternoon. Doc said the sermon had hot spots in it and he did his best to not squirm too much. But seriously, Rev. Wright has done for Ashville and community a "mountain of good" and we mean just that, with not "True or Not" attached.

T. B. Test Given

By special invitation we were out to school to learn about the tuberculin test which was given to some 50 pupils. Every rural school was to be visited in the one day.

WHAT WOULD WASHINGTON DO?
MODERN admirers of George Washington sometimes try to guide their attitudes toward modern times and problems by what they believe Washington would think or do or say. They search his speeches for a word or phrase or policy which they try to fit exactly to the pattern of current events. It is not always a successful process.
There are plenty of things in Washington's life and character which can be applied today with effectiveness. His integrity, his unselfish and unstinted public service, his complete loyalty to his country, are traits which the United States needs always in its humblest citizens and its leaders and public officials.
No one can say just what Washington would do about current situations in Asia, Europe or this country. But we can all be sure that he would shirk no responsibility, and that he would put duty and service before personal prestige and power.

PRUNES AND PEARS
A SURVEY of the food market in Toledo, O., reveals that, while most foods have become cheaper, the price of prunes remains the same. Likewise the quantity of prunes sold.
So here is one thing steady in a shaky world. People must have prunes regardless of economic conditions. The prune market is sustained by relief funds in hard times; and if five prunes made a "helping" before, whether in boarding house or private home, the number remains the same. Grown-ups may weary of them, but children usually like them, and they're nourishing and healthful.

One other foodstuff remains almost as steady. It's beans. But perhaps we would better not dwell on that theme, except to tell a true story.
A couple of years ago a friend and his wife, who had been having a hard time, were driving along a country road. Things had finally begun to improve a little, and they were talking it over. "Well," said the man, "there's one thing I'll certainly be glad about when this depression's over. I won't have to eat so many beans!" "Same here!" replied the wife.

Just then a truck passed them. As it swung around a curve ahead, something fell out onto the road. When they reached the spot the truck had disappeared. The man stopped, climbed out, picked up the fallen object, looked at the label, and then sadly placed it in the back of his car. It was a 40-pound sack of beans.

If we tolerate Nazi organizations in America, in the name of free speech and assembly, this much should be understood: No Heil-Hitlering or goose-stepping on the streets.

Senator Johnson says the new crop control act "penalizes the Creator himself." If so, it will hardly be necessary to bother our Supreme Court about that.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:
Up at the usual hour and soon about in the drizzle, finding the weather no more pleasant than the next fellow and doing just as little about it. Soon, however, there came thoughts of bright days of sunshine and clear streams, instead of the swollen angry waters of the day. Fred Wittich dropped in to announce that he has arranged for a general bait gatherer for the Spring and Summer, truly pleasant news for all the anglers who do not care to dig or seine.

Orchids for this month go to Eleanor Allinger, the 23 year old girl, who left New York state to save the life of her dog, a fine Great Dane. New York law decrees against the clipping of dogs' ears. The clipping is supposed to be inhumane. So, the enforcement officers advanced on the pooch and even after learning that he had been imported in his clipped state from another part of the country they declared that he would have to be killed. There's law for you. Law that declares the clipping of a good dog's ears is inhumane, but that killing him is humane. Great thinkers, we modern folk.

Received a card from Doc Bales, who has been in Mexico hunting shells and who now has headed north, stopping off at Aransas Pass, Tex., for a week before completing his trip. Waved an envious good-bye to Elmer Clifton and his party as they took off by trailer for Florida. Enjoyed a chat with John Keller, the efficient county commissioner, who is much worried by weather damage to county roads.

Jim Swearingen dropped in to leave a copy of the constitution and by-laws of the Circleville Guards organized here in 1877. Dick Curl is the only living member of the original company. Jim was voted in during August of 1877. Dropped in at the Mykrantz drugstore to inspect the completed remodeling that has made an entirely new establishment out of the business. A fine piece of work and both Wallace Crist and the druggists are to be congratulated.

Talked with Rev. Sayre, who was much busied seeking location for a big union Easter service to feature music by the combined choirs of the ville. That is a grand idea. Attended the Chamber of Commerce session at noon, listening to talk about this and that and wondering why more persons with the interest of the city at heart don't become active in that body. Yes, I know that the usual comment is that "the C of C doesn't do anything," but with so few persons as are active in the organization the situation is something like the fall that tried to wag the dog. Given enough members and enough spirit of wholehearted co-operation and the tune about the C. of C. soon would change.

MICHIGAN SOREST SPOT

WASHINGTON — Administration advisers are not shouting it from the house-tops, but the sores economic spot in the country is Michigan and its automobile industry. This is where big banks first began to close and mobs became menacing during the last days of the Hoover Administration which ended in the bank crisis.

The present Administration does not expect anything so serious, for the reason that the country now has a system of relief, and additional funds have been allotted to the Michigan area.

But when Homer Martin of the United Automobile Workers outlined the situation to the President recently, he reported that relief costs in the city of Flint had jumped 212 percent between December and January. The Social Security Board later estimated the increase to be 285 percent.

Martin told the President that out of 300,000 heavy industry workers in Detroit only 71,000 were employed, part of these being on part time. After listening to Martin's plea for additional relief funds, Roosevelt suggested: "Would a million a week be enough to cover it?"

This figure was tentatively agreed upon.

AUTO REGULATION

Governor Frank Murphy has been conferring with the President on other long-term ideas for the aid of Michigan. He believes that the only permanent cure for the State is the stabilization of the motor industry.

Last year, for instance, 5,000,000 cars were manufactured. This was accomplished through high pressure selling and easier installment terms, already the subject of a conference between Roosevelt and the motor moguls.

This year, because the motor market was oversold, only 2,500,000 cars will be produced, and of this number parts are already manufactured for 1,000,000, so that actually only 1,500,000 additional cars will be built.

Governor Murphy's ideas on auto regulation still are in a formative stage, but he believes one solution might be a carefully regulated motor monopoly which would prevent fluctuation in production.

Only hitch is that bitter rivals Ford and General Motors never would get together.

What Course to Follow If You Have Colitis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE TERM "colitis" implies inflammation of the large intestine. In order to understand its nature, we must know something of the structure and function of the colon.

The colon, or large intestine, has an internal lining of mucous membrane, two muscular coats of circular and longitudinal muscles, and an outside coat of serous connective tissue so that it makes a fairly tough, flexible, expandable and elongated sac. It is well supplied with nerves so that derangement of its functions are felt in the form of symptoms or pain.

Its most important function is that of holding bulky digestive products and waste until they can be conveniently eliminated. The second important function is delivering to the body the water which has been imbibed and poured into the small intestine during digestion.

Absorption of minerals, sugar, salt and some drugs takes place from the colon.

Most of the bacteria which have formed in the intestinal contents are detoxified or killed after they reach the large intestine. The chief secretion from the colon is mucus. Its function is obviously that of a lubricant.

Colitis can be said to exist only when there is demonstrable evidence of inflammation of the intestinal wall or lining.

Various Forms
There are various forms and causes of colitis:

(1) Amebiasis. This is becoming more and more common in the United States, and is due to the invasion of the mucous membrane of the colon by amebic parasites. Amebiasis usually enters the body with contaminated food. When they invade the mucous membrane of the colon they usually cause ulcerations. These ulcerations may be quite deep and lead to great intestinal unrest, with pain and cramps, diarrhea and the formation of blood, pus and mucus.

Besides the examination with the X-ray, diagnosis will depend upon the recovery of the ameba from the stool.

When treatment is promptly and properly given, acute amebic colitis responds very rapidly. Most of the treatment is designed to kill off the parasite. For this purpose a number of drugs have been used, such as ipecac and its derivatives, emetine, stovarsol, viofilm and bis-muth resorcinol.

As in all forms of colitis, rest with the use of a soft, low residue diet, should be instituted.

In the United States today nearly any chronic diarrhea should be suspected of being amebic.

I WAS SURPRISED at the brisk pace that M. Picon set as we set out for Morton Scone. His legs were short, but his remarkable agility made it hard for me to keep up with him. However, I had set myself to see as much of the methods of all three of these great men as I could, and was willing enough to make the effort. Now that they were nearing the end of the chase, every move they made should be interesting.
"I'm afraid I haven't been able to help you much, Monsieur Picon," I said after a long silence.
"Au contraire, my friend, your evidence has been of the greatest service to me. You remembered something of the utmost importance, which you might well have forgotten."
"What was that?"
"You do not know? But naturally, your own part in this affair."
"My part?" I almost shouted.
"But yes. You, too, had a hand in it. Oh, but quite unconscious, I assure you. Still, a part."
"Good Lord. What on earth was that?"
"Did you not rise and open the door?"
"Which door? When?"
"But naturally. The door of the lounge. Just before the screams were heard."
"Well, yes. I did. But I fail to see what that could have to do with it. Unless..." A new and horrible idea flashed into my brain. "Unless there was some devilish mechanism in that room which I set in motion."
"Fortunately," said M. Picon, "the machine is not yet invented which will cut a lady's throat while she lies waiting for it, and throw the knife from the window, then disappear from the face of the earth."
"I suppose not," I admitted.
We marched on in the sunlight, which had begun to pale a little. I was glad of the fresh air and exercise, and glad, too, of some activity which filled in the afternoon, for my impatience to know the murderer's identity would otherwise have become feverish. To think that at last, after all this guesswork, I was to know the truth. I resolved to think no more about the murder, for otherwise I should start once again to suspect each in turn of the people at the Thurstons'.
We must have been within half a mile of Morton Scone when M. Picon suddenly took my arm, and said, "Vite! This way!"
I was so much taken by surprise that for a moment I hesitated. He pulled me quite fiercely, however, to the side of the road, and almost bundled me through a hole in the hedge. He had scarcely time to follow, when a car approached. I had been aware of it a moment before, when it had been in the distance and beyond a dip which had taken it out of sight, but I had paid no attention to it. The little detective, however, seemed to be in a state of tremendous excitement.
"Observe!" he snapped, as he stared at the roadway we had left.
It was once again Dr. Thurston's dark-blue car, and since it was not traveling fast I had ample time to recognize its occupants. Fellowes was driving, and beside him sat the girl Emily, while in the rear seat, smoking a cigar, was Miles.
"You see?" said M. Picon, as soon as the car had gone past. "What I have said! Look in the heart, my friend. When the mind no longer tells tales, look in the heart!"
"But Monsieur Picon," I exclaimed, "this is too much! This morning I went to Sidney Sewell, and saw Fellowes with two of the suspects; this afternoon I came to Morton Scone, and here he is with another two!"

M. Picon laughed. "And perhaps, when you go to Jericho with the excellent Monsignor Smith you will find him there with some more!"
"But what does it mean?" I asked.
"Patience, my friend."
"But how did you know, while it was still a long way off, that that was the Thurstons' car?"
"I did not. But I thought it might be. I was expecting it."
"You were? What made you expect it?"
"Oh, but you must understand. I was not expecting it with any great confidence. But I knew it had gone this way, and I thought that possibly, possibly, mind you, it would return."

"You knew that they were going to Morton Scone, then?"
"I had an idea, no more. A small idea. But the ideas of Amer Picon at times come true, you see."

"Well, that one certainly did, though I'm hanged if I know what to make of it."
"And I wonder what the good Boeuf would make of it. His partner in the brave game of darts, is it not?"
I smiled at that.

"Yes, I wonder. Whom do you think he suspects, Monsieur Picon? He seems pretty sure of himself, whoever it is."

"Probably the so skilled and expert cook, I should think," said M. Picon. "But then your English police are not of the most intelligent when it is a matter of crime."

"Not in this case," I admitted. Suddenly I stopped short. "Monsieur Picon!" I exclaimed.
"What have you, mon ami?"
I burst out laughing. "What a couple of fools we are!" I said.
"For that, in your so English proverb, you must speak for yourself," he returned huffily.

Urbana Attorney Talks At Monday Club Session

Miss Grace F. Heck Tells Problems of Women

The program for the Monday club meeting in the Library Trustees' room of Memorial Hall was sponsored by the "Studies of Women in Careers" division under the direction of Miss Jeanette Rowe, chairman.

The meeting opened by singing a group of patriotic songs, led by Mrs. James Moffitt. After a short business session, Miss Grace Fern Heck, of Urbana, the guest speaker of the evening, was introduced by Mrs. Ray Davis, Miss Heck, a lawyer of Urbana, was twice elected prosecuting attorney of her home county and she was a member of the Wickersham committee, the appointment following immediately her graduation from the law department at Ohio State university. The speaker presented the general problems of "Women as Lawyers", saying in part:

"The group of women lawyers in the United States is relatively small and the public is not informed of the achievements of these women, except in the case of a few, one being Judge Florence Allen.

"The first woman in the United States was admitted for law practice in 1869; the first woman admitted for practice in Ohio was Miss Agnes Scott, in 1878, having been refused admission twice previously because she was a woman.

The 1920 census reported 1,758 women lawyers in the country; at the present time the number is 4,500. Since science and inventions have taken so much of the challenge from the home, women have chosen law as a profession for the same reason that they have chosen other professions. However, it is one of the professions that the public is slow to recognize for the following reasons: first, it is a study requiring intense concentration and it cannot be treated as an avocation; second, the unwillingness of women to face the starvation period, the time of beginning practice, which covers at least five years; third, the prejudices of public opinion. As late as 1921 an authority on vocations for women stated, 'It may be granted that law has not thus far proved one of the professions that offer more obvious advantages to women.' It is almost impossible for a woman lawyer to get a position in Ohio. However the federal government has made several appointments in the state.

"The qualifications for women contemplating the study of law are more than average intelligence, a willingness to work, an analytical mind, the ability to make friends and the ability to meet the public, in short, the scholarly, dramatic type of person."

In conclusion, Miss Heck made clear that organizations of the Monday club type could do much toward educating the public to the fact that the law profession can be mastered successfully by women as well as men.

Bridge Club Meets
Mrs. Allen Thornton and Mrs. L. E. Davidson received score prizes, Monday evening, when Miss Marvyn Holderman entertained her bridge club, Miss Marie Reichelderfer, of Columbus, and Mrs. Charles Smith were substituting guests. The traveling prize was won by Mrs. Smith. Lunch was served by the hostess after the games.

Mrs. Clarence Hott will entertain the club in two weeks.

O. E. S. District Meeting
The 15th annual session of the Order of the Eastern Star, 23rd district of Ohio, was held Monday at the Eastern Star temple, Chillicothe, with the Chillicothe Chapter No. 419 hostess unit, assisted by Waverly, Bainbridge and Concord chapters.

Miss Marie Hamilton was installing officer for the services held during the afternoon session. Mrs. E. S. Shane, Northridge road, and Miss Lillie Briggs, of New Holland, took part in the school of instruction. Mrs. Laura Rector, of Adelphi, was installing organist.

Mrs. Mae McCullough, of Kingston, and Mrs. R. S. Hosler, of Ashville, took part in the afternoon program when Mrs. Jessie N. Peck, grand worthy matron, was presented. Mrs. Clara Belle Spangler was one of the candidates at the session.

Members of Circleville chapter No. 90 present for the district meeting were Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Spangler, Mrs. George Forster, Mrs. F. E. Heraldson, Mrs. T. E. Wilson, Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mrs. George Valentine, Mrs. William Cady, Mrs. Fred Griner, Mrs. O. J. Towers, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Miss Lucille Neuding, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bennett, and Mrs. E. S. Shane, of Circleville and Mrs. Daisy Accord, Mrs. Joseph Staley, and Mrs. Hosler, of Ashville.

Washington P.-T.-A.
Approximately 50 persons attended the Founders' Day celebration of the Washington Parent-Teacher association Monday evening at the school.

Mrs. C. H. Palm, president, was in the chair for the business session, which opened with group singing of "Auld Lang Syne". During the meeting it was decided to sponsor a project to encourage better attendance at school, plans being completed to present a banner each month to the room having the greatest percent present. It was also planned to present a cash award to the room having the greatest number of parents present at the next Parent-Teacher association meeting.

Wendell Boyer read a letter from the National Congress of P.-T.-A. in regard to the bill eliminating sales tax. He joined with George D. McDowell in urging the members not to sign petitions in favor of the bill, explaining that the passage of the bill would curtail school expenditures greatly.

The Washington school orchestra made its first appearance Monday evening, and opened the program with a selection under the direction of Paul E. Rose, instrumental music instructor of the school. Recitations followed by Billy Richards, Paul David Kraft, Paul Marshall and Martha Lee Matz. A dialogue by Robert Elisea and Betty Jane McCoy was the next number, followed by a piano duet by Mary Katherine Bowman and Fern Richards. Mr. McDowell, guest speaker, then gave an interesting talk on Founders' Day. Music by the orchestra completed the program.

Refractions were served by the hostess committee including Mrs. George Hanley, chairman, E. A. McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Boyer, and Mr. and Mrs. John Florence.

Van Fossen-Seymour
The engagement and coming marriage of Miss Helen Seymour to Mr. Alfred Van Fossen, of Manfield, has been announced. Miss Seymour, who has made her home for the last four years with Mrs. Nannie Beery, of E. Franklin street, has resigned her position with the Murphy store, and removed to Mansfield. The wedding will be an event of the early Spring.

Dinner Guests

Suit For Spring

HAND-KNIT suits are being featured for spring by most of the smart dress houses. This all-occasion suit is made with bellies, close fitting lines. A heavily nubbed rough mixture yarn of wool rayon thread nubs is used for the skirt and jacket. Smooth yarn in a mixture of lightweight zephyr and rayon, tightly rolled, is knitted in fabric stitch to form a colorful vestee.

Lyle, W. Mound street, will entertain the club in two weeks.

90th Birthday Anniversary
Mrs. Sabina Jane Accord, of 121 Logan street, celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary, Sunday, when a group of friends and relatives gathered at her home to spend the day with her. Mrs. Accord, in spite of her advanced age enjoys perfect health.

Dinner was served at noon to the following guests, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Allen and daughter, of Dayton; Mrs. Cora Moats, of Springfield; Mrs. Edward Amann, of Circleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Montgomery, of the home.

Iota Delta Meets
The first regular meeting of the Iota Delta chapter, Phi Beta Psi sorority, was held at the home of Miss Wilmina Phebus, Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Pauline Hill, president, was in the chair. Many social activities were planned for the coming weeks. The next meeting of the chapter will be at the home of Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, E. Mound street, Monday March 7.

Book Review
Mrs. Depew Head, of Columbus, will review "Journalist's Wife," by Lillian T. Mowrer, Friday evening at the Presbyterian church.

This will be the last of a series of four reviews sponsored by the Westminster Bible class of the church.

The book is the story of three persons, Mrs. Mowrer, Edgar Ansel Mowrer, her husband, well known foreign correspondent and Pulitzer prize winner, and their daughter, Diana Jane, and tells of all they have seen in Europe during the last 20 years.

Mrs. Barnhart Hostess
Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart, Northridge road, was hostess at a formal "Spinster's Dinner", Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock, honoring Miss Helen Carpenter, of Norwalk. Miss Carpenter will become the bride of Edward Eshelman, of Columbus, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church of Norwalk.

The table where the dinner was served had for a centerpiece an entire miniature wedding party. A five course dinner was served. The guests from a distance included Miss Carpenter, Miss Nancy Cox and Miss Edith Weidamier, of Norwalk; Miss Marie Eshelman and Miss Rosamond Bell, of Columbus. Miss Weidamier has been a house guest at the Barnhart home for several days.

Miss Bell will sing the nuptial music at the wedding, and Mrs. Barnhart will be matron-of-honor.

The other guests mentioned in addition to the bride, will be bridesmaids. Miss Carpenter presented the members of the wedding party, hose and headresses which they will wear at the wedding. Mrs. Barnhart gave the bride an attractive gift.

The out-of-town guests remained at the Barnhart home until Sunday morning when they motored to Norwalk for the wedding rehearsal, and a dinner at the bride's home, Sunday evening.

Saltcreek P.-T.-A.
The Saltcreek township Parent-Teacher association will meet Wednesday evening in the school auditorium.

The men of the organization will furnish the entertainment for the evening, a black-face sketch, entitled "The Great Chicken Stealing Case of Ebenezer County, Coon Township, Ark.", being included in the program, with the following cast of characters: the Judge, Lawrence Spencer, attorney for the plaintiff, Dwight Rector; attorney for the defendant, Gomer Jones; clerk of courts, O. S. Mowery; the sheriff, Roy Fraunfelder; the defendant, Clarence Judy; the plaintiff, Judson Beougher; witnesses for the plaintiff, including, the husband of plaintiff, Wayne Luckhart, hired hand, of plaintiff, Russell Anderson; witnesses for the defendant, including defendant's wife, Ralph Strous; minister, Raymond Hedges; jurors, E. F. Strous, foreman, Erving Beougher, Charles Armstrong, Durlan Bochart, J. L. Reichelderfer and Eugene Gildersleeve.

The mock trial will end with several spiritual songs. The meeting is open to the public, and refreshments will be served. Music for the evening will be furnished by the school orchestra.

Girl Scout Organizer
Miss Olga Carlson, of New York city, field worker and organizer for the Girl Scouts, will be in Circleville March 7-11 inclusive. While in Circleville, she will hold schools of instruction for girl scout leaders at the high school. All persons interested in the girl scout movement will be welcome to attend these meetings.

Today's Recipes
"TILTOE"—Brown a piece of steak, of sufficient size for the family, in a little fat. Butter may be used but a little of the fat from the beef is preferable. Remove steak and make about two cups of well seasoned brown gravy in the pan. Into a casserole slice a layer of onions, one of carrots, and top with one of potatoes, all raw and not sliced too thin. Fit steak on top of vegetables and pour gravy over all. Gravy should reach top of steak. Bake in slow oven about two hours, covering if steak gets too dry. Since long cooking is essential, cheaper cuts can be used. Round steak is especially good, and flank steak serves nicely.

LAMB LOAF—Two pounds ground lamb, one cup bread or cracker crumbs, two tablespoons grated onion, two tablespoons parsley, two tablespoons finely minced green pepper, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, poultry seasoning, one egg, slightly beaten. Combine ground lamb, crumbs, onion, parsley, green pepper, salt, pepper and poultry seasoning. Mix well. Moisten with egg and milk or meat stock and pack into a greased loaf pan or ring mold. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) until done, about one and one-half hours.

MOLDED RICE RING WITH FRUIT—Two cups cooked rice, one-half teaspoon salt, two cups milk, two tablespoons butter, one-fourth cup sugar, two tablespoons cornstarch, one-half cup cold milk, three egg whites. Mix cornstarch and cold milk. Heat rice, milk, sugar, salt in double boiler. Add cornstarch mixed with cold milk and cook 15 minutes. Fold in beaten egg whites, turn into ring mold. Chill. Unmold onto large platter and serve filled with fresh or canned fruit. This will make enough to serve 12 persons, giving each one-half cup pudding.

DRAWN BUTTER GRavy—One tablespoon butter, two tablespoons flour, mix smooth over low heat, add one cup boiling water, one tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar, stir until thick, season with salt, paprika and two tablespoons fresh chopped parsley.

LEMON PUDDING—Two cups water, one cup sugar, two tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in a little water, juice one and one-half lemons, one teaspoon grated lemon rind. Cook in double boiler and whip into the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Chill and serve in sherbet glasses.

MAPLE SYRUP CORN BREAD—One and one-eighth cups yellow corn meal, one and one-eighth cups wheat flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-third cup maple syrup, one egg, well beaten; one cup milk, three tablespoons melted shortening. Add shortening to syrup. Mix all ingredients. Pour into shallow, well-greased pan, bake twenty minutes in hot oven. Cut into squares and serve hot.

HARVARD BEETS—Twelve small beets or two cups cooked beets cubed; two tablespoons butter, one-half tablespoon cornstarch, one-fourth cup sugar, one-half cup mild vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt. Canned or cooked beets may be used. The small beets may be left whole if desired. Melt butter in a saucepan. Add cornstarch and blend it in well (three-fourths tablespoon flour may be used instead). Stir in sugar. Add vinegar slowly, stirring it in carefully to make a smooth paste. Add beets and let stand in a warm place until beets are warmed through and nicely flavored with the sauce. Add salt and pepper, and more sugar, if needed. This amount serves four.

DATE CAKE—Two thirds cup butter, one and one-half cups brown sugar, three eggs, three and one-half cups flour, five teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon salt, one and one-fourth cups sweet milk, one and one-half cups dates, chopped. Cream butter and sugar together. Add well-beaten eggs. Beat until light and fluffy. Sift flour once. Measure. Add baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt, and sift again. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk to butter mixture. Add dates, which have been pitted and chopped. Mix well. Bake in buttered tube or loaf pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 or 60 minutes.

CREAM OF LIMA BEAN SOUP—One cup dried lima beans, two slices onion, two stalks celery, one small carrot, one tablespoon minced parsley, five cups water, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, one and three-fourths cups evaporated milk, two and one-half cups water. Soak beans over night or eight hours. Drain. Simmer beans, chopped onions, chopped celery, sliced carrot and minced parsley with five cups of water until beans are soft. Force through a coarse sieve and add seasoning. Melt butter, add flour, milk and two and one-half additional cups water slowly, stirring until mixture thickens. Add glycerine. Allow sauce to cook until thickened. Add sieved vegetables and reheat before serving.

STYLE WHIMISIES
Frocks in pastel colors, for wear under fur coats at the present time, are a necessary adjunct to milady's wardrobe. For wear under black Persian swaggers—beige, cloud blue, rose quartz, and hyacinth. For brown fur coats—pale blue, foam green, wheat and amber.

Don't Be Hornswoggled!

That is, don't be bamboozled into filling your bin with coal until you know that it is GOOD coal. Some people have been tricked into buying coal from a truck peddler and then finding that they have a bin full of something black that gives them plenty of dirt, ashes and clinkers but very little heat. What can they do about it? Nothing—but they won't be "hornswoggled" next time. Remember there are many, many grades of coal but it is HEAT you are after, and the only real economy lies in buying coal that gives you MORE HEAT for your money.

Buy your coal from a reputable dealer who stands back of the product he sells. We have good coal to suit every need and it will pay you to get our prices before you buy.

CHILLICOTHE ANS TO INVADE C. A. C. COURT AT 8:30

The strength of the invading Chillicothe Central Catholic quintet, scheduled to meet the Tigers tonight on the C.A.C. court, is unknown. The parochial school, reputed to rank high in Ohio Catholic circles, will appear at 8:30 following two preliminaries, the first of which begins at 6:30 o'clock.

Coach Jack Landrum is expected to use the same lineup that has been starting in recent weeks. Davis and Walters at forwards. Kenny Smith at center, and Junior Martin and Dick Mader at guards.

Members of the Stooze club and businessmen will be seated in a specially-reserved section for Tuesday evening's game.

Bowling News

Gold Cliff Lefties pulled farther ahead of the industrial bowling league during the week-end by winning five out of six match games played. Sunday, the Lefties took the Container Corporation crew for a two out of three margin, and Monday evening the second place Mader funeral service team was dropped for three in a row.

The Sunday match was featured by the high single game chalked up by Bob Ekins of the Containers. He started his final shot with seven consecutive strikes, but fell down in the eighth frame when he hit for seven and missed the spare. He struck in the ninth and spared in the tenth for a neat 240.

Monday evening three of the Lefties were above the 500-pin mark while the best the Maders could do was 460, rolled by Heistand.

CO-LEADERS OF COURT LEAGUES GET IN ACTION

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22 — (UP) — Co-leaders in the Ohio conference basketball race, Wooster and Wittenberg go after their 10th straight league triumphs tonight in contests that feature a 12-game program involving state teams.

Wooster faces its toughest battle of the season when it goes against Mount Union at Alliance.

Capital won its 10th Ohio conference victory of the season when it defeated Otterbein 54 to 40 in the feature game of last night's abbreviated program. Capital has lost three league contests.

Led by its great sophomore forward, Paul Weaver, Capital overcame an early Otterbein lead and held a 21 to 15 advantage at the half. The Columbus team dominated play throughout the final period.

In other games the University of Akron experienced little trouble in downing Bowling Green 52 to 29; and Westminster trounced Youngstown 55 to 37.

PURDUE CAGERS GAIN TIE WITH NORTHWESTERN

CHICAGO, Feb. 22 — (UP) — Purdue once more was all square with Northwestern today and in the closing stages of the campaign was hailed as the favorite to win another undisputed Big Ten basketball championship.

Iowa, only two nights before pitifully ineffective against Chicago, upset Northwestern last night, 26 to 25, and Purdue promptly disposed of Ohio State, 49 to 36. The leaders have won seven and lost two each.

Although they do not meet until March 5, Purdue has a chance to step into sole possession of first place with a victory over Indiana Saturday night while Northwestern is idle.

CHAMPION MAY GO INTO RING FAVORED AT 6-1

Nathan Mann's Only Chance Lies In Right Smash, Experts Predict

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 — (UP) — Belated assaults on the box-office promised today to make Wednesday's Joe Louis-Nathan Mann heavyweight championship prize fight a sell-out.

Probably never in New York ring history has a title event approached the sports horizon with so little furore and fanfare. Only this week have New Yorkers become aware of the impending hostilities.

One reason for this is that Boxing News, generally speaking, has been definitely bullish. Since Louis and Mann went to their camps there have been such prize fight developments as the resignation of James J. Braddock, the Schmeling-Foord and the Adamic-Thomas fights, and the Steele-Barth and the Escobar-Jeffra title affairs. So the drumbeats started by Mike Jacobs' publicity corps have been somewhat drowned out.

2 to 1 for Knockout

Another and perhaps more valid reason is that Mann, to be brutally frank, isn't given a chance. The professional gambling odds are 6-1 in favor of Louis, but there are no takers. The only betting is on a knockout and it's 2-1 that Louis wins that way.

While Mann has given off some predictions of victory which must have been highly assuring to his loved ones and close friends, they have been taken lightly by the fight mob. Even the charter members of the "Louis-Is-A-Bum Club, Inc.," and its associate and junior members, to say nothing of the ladies auxiliary and the girl's drum and bugle corps are not relying on the impending fistfight to prove their charter of incorporation.

So Louis vs. Mann, 15 rounds, Madison Square Garden, Wednesday, Feb. 23, 10 p. m., EST., shapes out as boxing formula No. 77-B which is—"Louis probably will win and certainly should, but if Mann should happen to get over a good right," etc.

Louis and Mann have one definite basis of comparison. Each has met and beaten Bob Pastor in a 10-round bout. Mann's supporters point to the fact that Mann floored Pastor while Bob remained erect in his meeting with Louis. This isn't quite fair, however, as Robert, when he was in the ring against Joe, had just one thought in mind. That was to stay out of Joe's reach. He did that by getting on a bike and riding backwards for exactly 30 minutes. Pastor d-i-d go the route with Louis but gave the customers a miserable show.

Promoter Mike Jacobs expects to empty his tills of tickets before noon tomorrow. He has estimated a gate of $130,000 but independent estimates put the figure closer to the $100,000 mark.

CO-LEADERS OF COURT LEAGUES GET IN ACTION

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22 — (UP) — Co-leaders in the Ohio conference basketball race, Wooster and Wittenberg go after their 10th straight league triumphs tonight in contests that feature a 12-game program involving state teams.

Wooster faces its toughest battle of the season when it goes against Mount Union at Alliance.

Capital won its 10th Ohio conference victory of the season when it defeated Otterbein 54 to 40 in the feature game of last night's abbreviated program. Capital has lost three league contests.

Led by its great sophomore forward, Paul Weaver, Capital overcame an early Otterbein lead and held a 21 to 15 advantage at the half. The Columbus team dominated play throughout the final period.

In other games the University of Akron experienced little trouble in downing Bowling Green 52 to 29; and Westminster trounced Youngstown 55 to 37.

PURDUE CAGERS GAIN TIE WITH NORTHWESTERN

CHICAGO, Feb. 22 — (UP) — Purdue once more was all square with Northwestern today and in the closing stages of the campaign was hailed as the favorite to win another undisputed Big Ten basketball championship.

Iowa, only two nights before pitifully ineffective against Chicago, upset Northwestern last night, 26 to 25, and Purdue promptly disposed of Ohio State, 49 to 36. The leaders have won seven and lost two each.

Although they do not meet until March 5, Purdue has a chance to step into sole possession of first place with a victory over Indiana Saturday night while Northwestern is idle.

THOUGHTLESS players may consider a four-card holding to the A-J, opposite three to the Q, just as good as four headed by the A-Q-J opposite three little ones. There is a far cry between them, however, if the 10 and 9 are missing. When the three honors are in the same hand, it is possible to take all tricks in the suit, but utterly impossible if the combination is split.

led to South's J. The heart Q was the next lead. West covered with the K and dummy with the A. The J was then cashed and a low heart lost to West with the 10. A club was returned, which South won. The spades 9 and 8 were cashed and the diamond A, but the last two tricks had to be given up.

Harold C. Richard of New York, the other declarer, managed the hand quite differently. After winning the club K lead with the spade K, he led a diamond to his A and then offered his losing diamond. East won and returned a club. This was won in the dummy and a third diamond led. In this way, Mr. Richard set up two diamonds for discards, and so made his contract.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

At two tables in a duplicate tournament, the South players landed in a contract of 5-Spades, doubled by East and redoubled by North. It was set at one table, two tricks, and made at the other. The club K was led, which was ruffed at table 1 with the spade K. The spade Q was led, which East won with the A and returned the club Q. This was trumped with dummy's spade 10 and the spade 5

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

MAYOR CADY PROCLAIMS WEDNESDAY AS "BOY SCOUT DAY" IN CITY

COURT OF HONOR TO BE STAGED DURING EVENING

Dr. Edgar Ebert, Capital U. To Deliver Address In Auditorium

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Music, One-Act Play To Be Parts Of Program

Wednesday has been set aside as Boy Scout Day in Circleville under proclamation of Mayor W. B. Cady.

The feature of the observance will be the district Court of Honor in the high school auditorium beginning at 7:30 p. m. All troops in the county will participate in the court. Awards will be presented to Scouts in recognition of their achievements.

Speaker for the court will be Dr. Edgar Ebert, Capital university professor. Music will be furnished by the high school orchestra; there will be selections by the girls' glee club and a one-act play "These Fathers" will be given by Scouts of Troop 199, of Pleasantville.

Many To Advance Scout officials expect a record number of advancements. One troop in the district hopes to have every registered member qualify for at least one award. The court is open to all interested persons.

Members of the court will be James I. Smith, Jr., Robert Terhune, the Rev. H. A. Sayre, Dwight Steele, the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, A. Wendell Boyer, Joseph Burns, Renick Dunlap, Ed. C. Ebert, all of Circleville, and the Rev. W. C. Peters, of Ashville.

Mayor Cady's proclamation follows:

To the citizens of Circleville: "Wise men have realized that to perpetuate an ideal, to make it thrive and grow through the ages they must begin by instructing youth. Look abroad today—see what European nations are doing with their youth programs—highly militaristic where the individual loses all identity of self in a mad conquest for ever-widening borders of world power.

"The Boy Scouts of America, with a membership of more than a million boys and men, this month celebrates the 28th anniversary of the founding of the movement in this country. Scouting is America's answer to the challenge of an adequate youth program in a land where the ultimate authority rests in the hands of the people. Through all of its activities, Scouting recognizes the individual—your boy and mine. It recognizes his abilities and capacities and inspires him to strive for the utmost development of his potentialities, that he might become a self-respecting citizen in a great Democracy.

"Intrigued by a program of adventure, fun, romance—a Scout is taught to be alert, to use his own initiative; he develops a self-reliance and skill in getting along with other folks; he learns to respect the customs and convictions of others; he learns to shoulder his own responsibilities for the good of the group; without the overstimulation of an emotional patriotism he learns to respect his country and the flag which represents it. "Scouting deserves the active interest and support of everyone who is interested in the building of a stronger generation that will carry on the fine American traditions of home, church, and state.

"Accordingly, I hereby proclaim Wednesday, Feb. 23, 1938 as Boy Scout Day in Circleville, Ohio, in witness whereof I attach my signature and seal on this 22nd day of Feb. 1938. In recognition thereof, I do commend all business houses to display the National Emblem on this day, and do admonish our citizens to attend the Boy Scout Court of Honor at the high school auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

WILLIAM B. CADY, Mayor

NO RELATIVES LOCATED FOR MAN, 64, FOUND DEAD

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Joe Myers, 64, who died of a heart attack last Saturday about Route 23 about four miles north of the city. The service was conducted by the Albaugh Co. The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor of First Presbyterian church, officiated. Burial was on the township land in Forest cemetery.

Myers' home was believed to be Alliance. The sheriff's department was unable to locate any relatives in that city. It was learned that Myers had worked in Kenton, R. R. Clark, chief of police at Kenton, wired the department Tuesday he was unable to locate any relatives there.

DAVEY INTENDS TO PROSECUTE PROBE WITNESS

to smear the governor of Ohio will fall by its own weight.

"I am going to spend all my time during the next two or three weeks on this trial.

"I am not a candidate for reelection—not now. I wouldn't care a lot to be governor again under ordinary circumstances. But I'll go through this child of perjury, then I'll have something to say to my friends in Ohio about the next campaign."

Lee Bradley, given two more days to testify before the senate committee which is investigating his activities in the 1934 political campaign, promised "more sensational" testimony today than any he has given so far.

The diminutive Cleveland salesman, who brought the graft-investigating committee's two-month investigation to an exciting climax when he bobbed up last week, has been protected twice by Franklin county judges from being returned to East Cleveland to answer a perjury warrant obtained by Gov. Martin L. Davey.

On Saturday night, Judge Charles A. Leach signed a habeas corpus writ to insure Bradley's further testimony. Yesterday, Judge John R. King, who once upheld the committee's right to question witnesses, continued the habeas corpus hearing until Wednesday, saying that "neither this court nor any other person can interfere with this committee."

The governor obtained the perjury warrant on the ground that Bradley testified falsely when he told the committee he solicited campaign contributions for Davey from General Motors, Chrysler Corporation and 27 utility firms.

Contribution Denied

Bruce H. Seabright, General Motors dealer at Wheeling, W. Va., appeared before the committee last night and denied that he or General Motors, through him, had contributed to Davey's 1934 campaign fund.

When James Metzbaum, committee counsel, showed him several letters and telegrams he had sent to Bradley, Seabright explained that he "just let Mr. Bradley on" so he could get some information on Ohio politics.

Seabright gave this explanation several times, each time bringing laughter from the committee and spectators.

Seabright testified that Bradley, claiming to represent Davey, asked him to see that General Motors contributed $25,000 to the 1934 campaign. He said he asked the company and the request was refused.

He said that in 1934, Davey invited him by telephone to call upon him in Kent. He did not go to Kent but met Davey in a Columbus hotel, he said.

Seabright testified he had not met Davey before the Columbus conference. He said he went only because he wanted to see whether Bradley really represented Davey. He said, however, that he failed to ask Davey about his relations with Bradley.

With Davey Few Minutes

"I was with Mr. Davey but a few minutes," Seabright told the committee. "I asked him: 'Martin, what do you intend to do if elected?' Will this thing be on the level?'"

The witness said that Davey replied: "Yes sir, absolutely." Seabright said that L. L. Tremper of the General Motors Truck Corp. had visited him with Bradley in Wheeling.

Bradley had testified that a $25,000 contribution was arranged in a conference in New York in which he, Tremper and Davey participated. He had testified the money was to be paid through Seabright. In return, he said, General Motors was to get 50 percent of the state's automobile business.

After his third meeting with Bradley he would not have sold him a truck "at twice the price," Seabright said.

scratched. The voting was conducted from 6 to 9 p. m. Mr. Colville cast the first ballot.

The election and reorganization of the society was arranged after difficulties arose in obtaining $800 in state aid from the department of agriculture. The state department threatened to withhold payment of the fund unless its regulations for county fair organizations were met. After arrangements were made for the election and reorganization and election the aid was received on the last show. In past years directors were appointed by the mayor.

Voters were Messrs. Colville, Krinn, Lamb, McDowell, Clark, Mayor W. B. Cady, G. C. Pettit, B. F. Harden, Charles C. Young, H. E. Betz, A. R. Steedman, George F. Grand-Girard, Ben H. Gordon, H. B. Denman, Fred B. Brunner, Walker Baughman, Paul Johnson, Ryan Custer, Mose Ammer and Stanley Beckett.

BILL TO REVISE BUSINESS TAX NEARS DEBATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(UP)—

The administration's business tax revision program was virtually ready today for house consideration early next week. The house ways and means committee has tentatively approved the 334-page bill.

A Republican attempt to strike out the proposed new tax on closely held corporations failed, 15 to 10, in yesterday's final session of "reading" the bill, the committee then adopted modifications in the tax which Democratic members previously had agreed on, made other minor changes in the measure, and adjourned subject to the call of Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D. C. N. C.

Rep. Fred M. Vinson, D. Ky., head of the tax subcommittee which made the report on which the new tax bill is based, said "several matters" remained to be discussed, but refused to disclose what they were. He hoped to have the bill ready next week.

The main features of the bill affect corporation taxes and the levy on capital gains.

All corporations earning less than $25,000 a year would be exempted from the present undistributed profits tax of 7 to 27 percent which is imposed on their normal rates. Instead they would pay a single set of taxes, 12½ percent on the first $5,000, 14 percent on the next $15,000 and 16 percent on the final $5,000.

BASS LIMIT CHANGED

Under new regulations of the state conservation department, announced Tuesday, the legal length for bass has been reduced from 11 to 10 inches and the bag limit from eight to five. The change in the legal length was made since it is believed many fish returned to the water died because a quarter or half an inch made them illegal. To offset the legal length reduction the bag limit was reduced.

Clashes Continue Between Nazis-Antis

VIENNA, Feb. 22—(UP)—

Police, acting firmly under new instructions from Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, closed the University building today as the result of noisy though minor clashes between Nazi and anti-Nazi students.

At midnight Schuschnigg had imposed a four-weeks' ban on political demonstrations after giving Nazis three days in which to celebrate the new agreement with Germany.

Students went to classes this morning, however, ready for a fight. Nazis had planned to waylay in the big hall of the university "Marxist" students released from jail or readmitted to classes after the amnesty. But Catholic students outwitted them, occupied the hall themselves and gave a demonstration for Schuschnigg.

WRIGHT TO BE RELEASED SATURDAY; SANITY PROVED

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22—(UP)—

Paul A. Wright, who promised to atone for slaying his wife and friend by "taking the lesson to heart" and by abstaining from intoxicating liquor, awaited his release today from the psychopathic ward of the county hospital.

He was acquitted for a murder charge "by reason of insanity," and was pronounced presently sane yesterday by Judge Ben B. Lindsey. He will be freed Saturday unless some interested party demands a sanity trial by jury for him within the five days prescribed by law.

UTES FOR MRS. KEATON TO BE WEDNESDAY AT 2:30

Funeral services for Mrs. Paris Keaton, 37, of Lover's Lane, will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in the M. S. Rinehart funeral home with the Rev. Charles Essick officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Mrs. Keaton's four brothers, Gilbert, Gail, Dwight and Kermit Wilson and Forrest and Richard Storts.

ASHVILLE INFANT VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA ILLNESS

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Schlegel funeral home, Ashville, the Rev. O. W. Smith officiating, for Kenneth Allen Burris, 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Burris. The child died of pneumonia at the home in Ashville.

Besides the parents, four brothers survive. Burial will be in South Bloomfield cemetery.

As for sunspots, maybe the sun's boiling that way just on account of what it sees down here.

Additional Sports

New Tiger Coach

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 22—(UP)—Elton E. (Tad) Wieman, great Michigan tackle of 26 years ago, began his new job of shaping Princeton university's football future today. Wieman, assistant to Herbert (Fritz) Crisler here for the last six years, was named last night by Princeton's council on athletics to succeed Crisler, who resigned as head coach two weeks ago to football boss at Michigan.

CLEAR WEATHER AND FAST TRACK SET FOR ANITA

ARCADIA, Cal., Feb. 22—(UP)—Clear weather and a fast track today favored 16 of the nation's leading thoroughbreds entered in the fourth annual renewal of the $50,000 added Santa Anita derby, a mile and a furlong gallop for three-year-olds. A capacity crowd of 60,000 was expected.

The 16 steeds represented the cream of the crop from the Winter book on the event in which the names of 111 prospects were entered by hopeful owners. Last minute scratches might cut the field to 14 entries before the barrier is lifted at 7 p. m. (EST).

Owner of the winner will collect approximately $42,500 when the added money is totaled. The purse to the place horse will be $10,000 with $5,000 to the third place winner and $2,500 to the fourth.

Eight contenders found overnight favor with the handicappers. Sir Raleigh, owned by Anthony Pelletier, raced against the best in the East last season and is said to be ready for today's event. In his last appearance here, Sir Raleigh was whipped by Sun Egret and Legal Light in a seven furlong dash. The Pelletier colt, however, was gaining fast at the close. The derby distance and the fast track caused Sir Raleigh's odds to tumble.

Legal Light, owned by Major Ral Parr, and Sun Egret, owned by A. C. Compton, were favored entries. Legal Light was beaten by a nose by Sun Egret in the recent San Vicente handicap.

INDIANS SIGN FOR STADIUM DURING "WORLD SERIES"

CLEVELAND, Feb. 22—(UP)—Optimism today was the keynote of the Cleveland Indians' management.

Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland club, completed arrangements with city officials yesterday to reserve the giant lake-front stadium between Oct. 1 and Oct. 15 "in the event the World Series will be played here."

While contracting for the stadium as the scene of a possible

World series, Bradley also signed papers to play 14 regularly scheduled games there.

The Indians will play their opening contest Tuesday, April 19, at the stadium against the St. Louis Browns.

All the remaining stadium dates are Sundays or holidays.

The complete stadium schedule follows:

May 1, Detroit; 15, Chicago; New York; 30, Washington; July 19, Philadelphia; 26, Boston; July 10, St. Louis; 31, Washington; Aug. 7, New York; 21, Chicago; Sept. 11, St. Louis; 18, Philadelphia; and Oct. 2, Detroit.

Cleveland's other home games will be at League Park.
